beldam lascarflex packing extractors

beldam lascarflex packing extractors have been specially designed to simplify the removal of old packing from glands easily and quickly, even when the space is restricted or the gland is in a difficult position, whilst ensuring that this is done without damaging the shaft or stuffing box walls.

We recommend that two beldam lascarflex packing extractors of the same size are used at diametrically opposite points, especially for large or semi-metallic packings.

beldam lascarflex packing extractors combine great strength with resistance to distortion. The design, whilst flexible, is sufficiently rigid to transmit power from the handle to the head.

The shaft is made from selected double-wound strand steel cable which will not stretch. The large steel handle and ferrule ensure a good grip. A special feature is the stainless steel detachable corkscrew head which will penetrate the packing easily and withstand the strongest pull.

Replacement heads are quickly fitted, thereby increasing the life of this most useful tool economically and almost indefinitely.

Once the beldam lascarflex packing extractors are screwed home the packing can be withdrawn ring by ring. Check carefully to ensure all old packing rings have been removed before replacing with new packing.

beldam lascar packing tools

For large glands, including many stern glands, in which problems of inaccessibility are less troublesome, rigid type extractors are available.

beldam lascar packing knives in 6" and 8" sizes are also supplied, together with packing sticks in sizes from 1/2" to 1".
