beldam lascar valve discs

Description & Service

Lascar Valve Discs are manufactured either in rubber or vulcanised fibre. Rubber valves are precision moulded to size and a wide range of durometer hardness is available to suit differing pressure and temperature conditions. They are also made with a fabric reinforcement to suit particularly arduous conditions of service. In the case of fibre valves, heat resisting materials and special bonding compounds are used to ensure maximum strength and resistance to flexing and cracking.

Lascar Valve Discs are suitable for use with hot and cold water, air, acids, alkalis, aqueous solutions and water containing abrasives. For the lower temperatures and pressures rubber valves should be used; where pressures exceed 200 lb. sq. in. valves of vulcanised fibre should be employed.

Fullest possible details of operating conditions should be given to enable us to supply the correct type of valve material.
